PRESIDENT: Senator Dworak.

CLERK: Now, Mr. President, there's a motion on the desk.
(Read Dworak amendment found on page 1172 of the Journal).

SENATOR DWORAK: Mr. President, colleagues. Essentially what this motion does is strike the Committee amendments on the University part of the budget. This will put us back to the green copy which is the initial budget that's recommended by the Appropriations Committee. This way we'll not have to go from one copy to another. We're back at the $87 million level. Then as we go through this we can add back whatever this body desires to add back. But this way every add back will have to be discussed on this floor. I'd urge the support of this amendment the way it is right now, going between the white copy, the green copy, not having a specific tangible hold on this. It's an impossible situation. This way we go to the green copy and then we can build back up to the white copy at an item by item basis. I urge the support of this amendment.

PRESIDENT: Senator Marvel.

SENATOR MARVEL: I would assume that regardless of which amendment was proposed that.... Vince, I address this to you. Now we're in order to consider the individual amendments to 690. Right?

PRESIDENT: No, we're considering Don Dworak's ... Senator Dworak's amendment.

CLERK: The motion right now is essentially to reject the Committee amendments, which you need to dispose of.

SENATOR MARVEL: How many amendments you have up there on 690 pertaining to the University? Are you telling me that we have to consider this first, that the amendments that are up there are not amendments to that amendment? I guess you're right.

CLERK: Well what I'm saying is that we agreed to go through the Committee amendments first and then take up amendments afterwards. So now you have an amendment to the motion to adopt those amendments. Senator Goodrich moved to adopt that University portion of the Committee amendments. Senator Dworak moves to strike that. I don't think they're subject to further amendments.

SENATOR MARVEL: OK, well then I make this....

CLERK: ... at this point.

SENATOR MARVEL: Then I make this point and then I'll sit down, there are a number of items in the white copy that pertain to increases in the University budget. Those were addressed to last night. Some were here and some were not. I would hate to see an overall motion either to adopt all of the University recommendations or to reject them without a discussion of these key areas. As I recall when I reiterated them to Senator Mills sometime late yesterday afternoon we had some place between $5 and $7 million worth.
